

worked for Chemical Bank in the foreign department. Eventually, Loretta left the bank and went on to become secretary to the president of Cooke International, and import/export firm in New York. Upon leaving Cooke International, Loretta began working for Rosenthal & Rosenthal, Inc. where she will be retiring after 26 years.

She began her career at Rosenthal as manager of the International Operations Office in their Foreign Department. Later she joined the Rosenthal Group's Law Department as an administrative manager and legal assistant and after years of service with Rosenthal & Rosenthal was appointed an officer in the company. She is one of the best liked and well respected members of the company, and her fellow workers will be sorry to see her go.

Loretta's outstanding achievement in the business world may only be overshadowed by her exemplary work in her community. For over 41 years, Loretta has been an active resident of City & Suburban's York Avenue Estate Landmark.

When eviction notices were sent to all tenants of her building, it looked as if Loretta and her neighbors would be forced to leave their homes forever. Her interest in the preservation of historic buildings in New York City persuaded her to lead the fight to make the building a New York City landmark.

Loretta helped organize fundraisers, spoke at hearings and met with legislators in New York City and Washington, DC. Her persistence was rewarded when City & Suburban was made an official New York City landmark. Ms. Betty Cooper Wallerstein, chairperson of Coalition to Save the City and Suburban, and Marie Beirne, Tenants Landmark chairperson, both agree that the landmarking of City & Suburban's York Avenue Estate could not have been accomplished without Loretta.

Now the Loretta is retiring after 26 years with Rosenthal & Rosenthal she will be able to devote even more time to her community service. She plans to be the keeper of the massive City & Suburban archives and intends to do volunteer work in the field of historic preservation. Ms. Ponticello will also continue her work with the East 79th Street Neighborhood Association, caring and working with the community that she loves.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to honor the heroics of Loretta Ponticello today. I hope that my colleagues will join me in thanking Ms. Ponticello for her ongoing generosity, and wish her a long and happy retirement.

ONE OF NEW YORK'S BEST—EL OLE

HON. NYDIA M. VELAZQUEZ

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 17, 1995

Ms. VELAZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of one of New York's best and most vibrant dining establishments. I am referring to El Olé. It is New York's very own bit of Spain, and it celebrates 25 years of exemplary service this Monday, May 22.

The owners of this fabulous restaurant, Pepe and Tony Lagares arrived in the United States back in 1949. They came here from La Coruña, Spain, with their father, Don José. They spent their first years in this country working at their grandfather's restaurant, Greenwich Village's El Tropezon. In 1970, they opened El Olé, and for years worked at a grovelling pace. El Olé's reputation spread by word of mouth, and it soon built up a strong clientele. In fact, when El Olé opened its doors for the first time, it could only accommodate 28 patrons. Today, it serves many well known guests on a regular basis, and its exquisite dining room accommodates 110.

Among the many distinguished patrons of El Olé are: Sylvester Stallone, Elizabeth Taylor, Al Pacino, Emilio Estevez, Robert DeNiro, Martin Lawrence, Jon Secada, Jane Evans, Pedro Morales, Jose Chegui Torres, Roberto Ledesma, and former Governor Cuomo and his family. This impressive list comes as no surprise. El Olé has an atmosphere that lends itself to fine dining and pure enjoyment. But it is much more than a restaurant, it is a refuge for people of all cultures, and its walls have witnessed countless conversations on everything from politics to the arts.

From the romantic sounds of Spanish guitars to the fast swing-pace of salsa, cumbia, and merenge, El Olé's superb service and vibrant setting serve as perfect complement to this establishment's world class menu.

I applaud the Lagares brothers for their efforts, and thank them for bringing us so much. To El Olé, a happy celebration, may its tables always bear las Delicias de la madre España, and may its door always rest open for those who share a passion for culinary pleasure and a thirst for the joy of life. Olé!

FINDING SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME ELIGIBLE BENEFICIARIES; INTRODUCTION OF LEGISLATION TO PROVIDE INCENTIVES FOR NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION OUTREACH

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 17, 1995

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, the Supplemental Security Income [SSI] Program was begun to provide a safety net for our country's elderly, blind, and disabled persons with limited income and resources.

Over the years I have followed the outreach efforts of the Social Security Administration to inform potential eligible people about the SSI Program. In 1989 a Health and Human Services study indicated that that 35 percent of potentially eligible recipients were not participating in the SSI Program. Congress mandated funds to the SSA in fiscal year 1990 and 1991 for outreach projects in an effort to enroll these potential recipients.

Many outreach programs designed and carried out by local government and nonprofit organizations have been funded by these appropriated funds. Outreach programs inform the SSA staff of the most effective means of reaching potentially eligible recipients of the SSI Program and assist recipients through the complicated application process.

Alameda County in California has been very effective in reaching Southeast Asian potential recipients through an outreach program that reaches into the community through mutual assistance groups.

In Arizona third parties using a variety of outreach techniques, including language groups, successfully funded eligible recipients and streamlined their application process by completing the many necessary forms for them.

These examples point to what maybe the most effective way of contacting these hard to reach people. The use of existing private nonprofit community groups. I suppose that one of the quickest and most economical ways of finding and signing up eligible people for the SSI Program would be to use the staffs of nonprofit organizations who already work with the poor. Many of these people are very knowledgeable about the program and have the trust of potential recipients. Help in filing out the forms and collection of the necessary documentation would greatly assist the overworked SSA staff.

In return the nonprofit organizations would receive a fixed amount of money for each person they "sign up" that was actually eligible for the SSI Program.

This idea is the basis for the legislation I am introducing today. My bill creates two demonstration projects, one in a poor urban area and one in a poor rural area, to test this idea of providing an award for successful outreach.

THE SERB STRANGLEHOLD ON SARAJEVO

HON. CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 17, 1995

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to condemn the latest Serbian onslaught directed against innocent civilians in Sarajevo, an UN-designated safe-haven. The events of the past 24 hours underscore the fact that the besieged city of Sarajevo remains in a virtual stranglehold by well-armed Serb militants. UN sources confirmed that at least 1,000 shells were fired on Sarajevo. The heavy shelling of the Bosnian capital, the worst in over a year, resulted in a score of injuries and deaths. Sporadic shelling continues today.

Some have had the audacity to argue that both sides are equally to blame for the attack, a pretext later used to deny the Bosnian Government's urgent request for protection of Sarajevo. Attempts to equate the forces of the sovereign Government of Bosnia-Herzegovina with the marauding bandits led by Radovan Karadzic, a mastermind of genocidal aggression in Bosnia, are an affront which must be resoundingly rejected. Karadzic, along with Bosnian Serb military commander Ratko Mladic and former police chief Mico Stanisic, are under active investigation by the War Crimes Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, for their respective roles in the war launched by the Serbs in 1992.

For 3 years now, international negotiators have traveled a well-worn path to Pale, the Bosnian Serb headquarters. Nearly a year has passed since the Contact Group presented its peace plan on a take-it-or-leave-it-basis. The Bosnian Government accepted the proposal within the 2 week deadline. The plan has been repeatedly rejected by the Bosnian Serbs with relative impunity despite threats by the Contract Group that rejection would carry severe consequences. Further negotiations at this time can only be expected to bring further concessions to meet Karadzic's demands.
